Annika has worked in the health care industry for more than 16 years and understands the needs of individuals to age-in-place.

Caring for the elderly is what I have done for as long as I can remember. My friends and I spend countless hours going to people's homes after attending church, doing chores or serving meals depending on our age and abilities. I remembered how I felt seeing the difference we made in these families lives. The joy and smiles were unforgettable and I have always sought out ways to put a smile on faces ever since.

Making a difference as a nurse was a perfect fit to serve and bring back those childhood memories. I soon realized that bringing joy and smiles became more and more difficult in an instructional setting. Although the facility had many wonderful, caring nurses, caregivers and other staff, the fact is, most patients feared being institutionalized and the anger they felt was overwhelming. In many cases the patients anger and loss of hope made it impossible to bring joy to their hearts. I often listened while patients vented in anger about being away from their homes, while on the other hand, there were families who would often be frustrated, even infuriated by the lack of community-based programs available. This would leave the families with no alternative but to move their loved ones from the comfort of their homes and place them in a facility, sometimes against their wishes.

With my passion for caring and my strength and expertise in understanding the needs of individuals to age-in-place, I felt the jolt and started Tender Loving Family Care.

Now, every day I go to work, it is my mission and joy to bring smiles to the people I care for and those I work with.
